

From Basler Components
To Basler Camera Customers
Cc Distributors

Date August 16, 2011

---

Discontinuation Note for the A102k Series

Dear Customer,

This is to notify you that all Basler cameras of the A102k series will be discontinued nine months from now. Due to the ongoing demand of improved image quality, reliability, and price the A102k camera series with all variants has reached its end of the product life cycle. Therefore we have to announce:

Last time buy is May 15th, 2012.

We offer various products using the same Sony sensor ICX285 in the A102f or in the scout series, like scout scA1400-17xx or scA1400-30xx either with 1394b or GigE interface., monochrome or color.

To meet our responsibility as an OEM supplier, we will keep a safety stock level of the affected camera. The safety stock will be used for warranty and repair purposes as well as for field replacement cameras.

If you have further questions about the discontinuation or differences in sensors and replacement cameras, please contact your sales person. Thanks for your understanding.

Best regards,

Basler Components